Seizure-like events – functional symptoms

How to support me with medical interventions:

n/a

How to communicate with me:

Communication styles, preferences, aids, key words and phrases

LM/H communicates verbally with no issues. He requires reminders/repetitions of routine or events that are happening. He can benefit from visual information as well. When he is distressed, it is difficult for him to communicate his needs. Short, simple sentences help him to understand the events that are happening.

Behaviours that may be challenging or present risk:

What are the behaviours, how to support me, ways to help me relax

If he is becoming distressed, encourage him to use his emotion regulation strategy/sensory strategies to prevent escalation.

When symptoms occur, support workers need to state "Hiro, I am going to leave you alone now" and not point out that symptoms of distress have started, Hiro should be left alone. Whoever is supporting him should not question his emotions or symptoms.

Seizure-like events can also cause him a lot of distress, staff need to make sure he does not hurt his head while at it, and make sure he is ok after it.

Hiro experiences pseudo-hallucinations that causes him a lot of distress as well.

Pain :

How do I show I am in pain, how to support me when I in pain

He can express verbally that he is in pain. But if he is under a lot of distress, he would use self-harm to cope with feelings and pain.

Things that are important to know

Important People

Family, friends, support workers

Petra (mother), Angelica (classmate), Jodie, Karolina, Girlie, Lauren, Hannah, Belen (support workers) Murdo MacLean (social worker)

Levels of support I need

Who needs to stay and how often?

Hiro goes to college 3 times a week with 2 support workers. Is 2:1 support just in case he has a seizure-like event.

Eating and Drinking- e.g. special requirements, food allergies and intolerances

No allergies reported

Keeping me safe- Identified risks/ hazards and ways to keep me safe

Crowded areas and public spaces can cause him distress, whoever is supporting him need to remove him from the situation as required.

Going to the toilet- e.g. continence aids, getting to the toilet

He doesn't need assistance for toilet

Personal Care- e.g. dressing, washing, brushing teeth

He doesn't need assistance

Movement and Mobility- e.g. posture, walking aids, support I require

Hiro can walk without assistance, although he can be semi paralyzed due to his seizure-like events, and in those cases, he would need assistance.

Sensory Issues- e.g. hearing, vision, hyper/hypo sensitivity, tolerance of touch

In terms of vision, he claims he sees things in his bedroom at night (hallucinations/visions).

All his senses seem to work ok, although too much noise can overwhelm him.

Flexibility of Thought- e.g. difficulties with future planning, transferring learning

Hiro finds it difficult to cope with change, to understand lots of information at once, also to keep information in mind.

He needs reassurance and sometimes, repetitions.
